

Conrad, Rita-Marie, and J. Ana Donaldson. Engaging the Online Learner: Activities and

Other recommended resources:

www.qualitymatters.org
Possibly the best starting point to get acquainted with coding if you so desire: http://www.codecademy.com

Blogs and posts about online education, both of which lead to myriad sources:

http://www.insidehighered.com/blogs/7-strategies-make-your-online-teaching-better

Links to the Center for Studies in Oral Tradition and The Pathways Project, both of which serve as models for the intersection of humanities research and the Internet technologies:
